Legal Responsibilities

1 Intellectual Property

1.1 The SDS_Label Maker is the intellectual property of ARE, and its use is subject to copyright law governed in the United States of America.

1.2 The SDS_Label Maker is intended to be used to create chemical labels in compliance with the Global Harmonized System for Hazard Communication.

2 Terminology

2.1 References to “the product” shall mean the intellectual property, as defined by section 1.1 Intellectual Property, in this Terms and Conditions license.

2.2 References to the intended purpose shall mean the intended purpose of the intellectual property, as defined by section 1.2 Intellectual Property, in this Terms and Conditions license.

3 Termination

In order to terminate this contract, as defined by the terms and conditions license, and end the user responsibilities, a user needs to contact ARE in writing at least 30 days in advance of the cancellation date. Failure to provide this written cancellation will result in the continuation of monthly billing and services until a 30 day written cancellation is received. Formal or Electronic Signature from the financially responsible party is required.

4 ARE responsibilities

4.1 ARE is not responsible for any lost or damaged property due to the installation of the product.

4.2 ARE maintains the right to end the user’s privilege to use the product at its discretion.

4.3 ARE maintains the right to change monthly subscription costs after providing a 30 day notification to the user.

4.4 ARE is not responsible for damages created by intentional use that deviates from the intended purpose of the product.

5 User responsibilities

5.1 The User agrees to not copy or distribute the product.

5.2 The User agrees to pay in full the scheduled payment amount.

5.3 The User agrees to only use the product for its intended purpose.
